Let's Start!

Vanessa talks about extreme weight loss techniques!

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever been on a diet? Which one?
- Do you think diets work? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about strange events.
- I can talk about things I was supposed to do and things that were supposed to happen.
- I can discuss experiences I have and haven't had.

Let's Explore!

That new restaurant is all the rage with young people.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: What a great story, but I have a question for you? Have you ever been on a diet?
- Vanessa: Of course. It's a tradition in my family for the women to battle their weight. Why do you ask?
- Sally: I am supposed to revisit my blog about healthy eating, but this time I'm going to talk about diet trends.
- Vanessa: Cool. What about cleanses? Have you done any research on them?
- Sally: No. I haven't. I don't know anything about them. Have you ever been on a cleanse?
- Vanessa: Oh yeah. Two years ago. I was going on the annual family trip to Mexico and I wanted to look good for the beach. Have you ever been to Cancun?
- Sally: No.
- Vanessa: It's amazing. Anyway, I wanted to lose weight. So, I went on the Lemon Cleanse.
- Sally: What's that?
- Vanessa: Oh. It's all the rage. You are supposed to drink a concoction of lemon juice, honey, and cayenne pepper and you are not supposed to drink or eat anything else.
- Sally: What? That's insane! Only that?
- Vanessa: Yes. I carried around a bottle of the mixture and drank from it all day.
- Sally: How long did you do it for?
- Vanessa: Two weeks. I managed to lose fifteen pounds.
- Sally: Oh my God! V! Have you ever lost that much weight before that quickly?
- Vanessa: No. I was supposed to lose more! I felt pretty weak when I was in Mexico, but boy did I look good.
- Sally: That's crazy.
- Vanessa: Well. It was just mind over matter.
- Sally: Haha. What about now?
- Vanessa: Ahhh. Well. I work in a restaurant so I don't mind and now that Marco is gone, it doesn't matter.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa tells Sally about the diets she has tried.

Target Words

- insane (adjective): something that is irrational
e.g. ... you are not supposed to drink or eat anything else.
Sally: What? That's insane! Only that?
- trend (noun): a general direction in which a situation is changing or developing e.g. This time I'm going to talk about diet trends.
- annual (adjective): happening or returning each year
e.g. I was going on the annual family trip to Mexico.
- cleanse (noun): the action of cleaning your organism of toxins
e.g. Cool. What about cleanses?
- all the rage (expression): in current fashion; being a current fad e.g. I went on the Lemon Cleanse. It's all the rage.
- concoction (noun): a strange or unusual mixture of things, especially drinks or medicines e.g. Oh. It's all the rage. You are supposed to drink a concoction of lemon juice, honey, and cayenne pepper.
- revisit (verb): to visit again
e.g. I am supposed to revisit my blog about healthy eating.

Learning Points

Be supposed to

You use the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the past, present or future.

The structure is:

subject + to be + supposed to + verb

I am supposed to decide on my travel plans by next week.

The doctor says I'm supposed to lose 20 pounds.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this:

Be suppose_to

Examples:

- You are supposed to drink a concoction of lemon juice, honey, and cayenne pepper.
- You are not supposed to drink or eat anything else.
- I was supposed to lose more!
- I am supposed to revisit my blog about healthy eating.

Learning Points

Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experience.

When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

To emphasize the result of the action, use the simple form.

- Have you been on a diet before? Yes, I have.
- Have you been on a diet like the doctor asked you? No, I haven't.

Examples:

- Have you ever lost that much weight before that quickly?
- Have you ever been on a diet?
- Have you done any research on them?
- Have you ever been on a cleanse?
- No, I haven't.
