Let's Start!

Sally tells Peter about a strange car accident.

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever been in a car accident?
If yes, what happened?
- How can traffic accidents be prevented?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about coincidences and strange events.
- I can discuss experiences I have and haven't had.
- I can react and comment on a story.

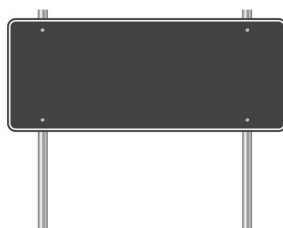

Let's Explore!

Peter thinks people won't want to talk about his story anymore, but Sally wouldn't bet on that.

* "Wouldn't bet on that" is used to tell someone that you think something is unlikely to be true or to happen.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: Peter. How is your salad?
Peter: It is not fit for people to eat. Just kidding! How is your lobster?
Sally: Delicious. Have you ever had the lobster here?
Peter: Ah. No. How can you eat all that and not get fat?
Sally: Just lucky I guess. Say, did you hear the news about the man on the freeway sign? It was reported two days ago?
Peter: No, I didn't. What happened?
Sally: Well, you know highway 6, right? Have you ever driven on the 6 before?
Peter: Yes, I've driven on the 6, more often than you have.
Sally: Ok. Then you know that huge freeway sign that was built last year ... just before the bridge?
Peter: Yeah, I have seen that sign before.
Sally: Well, you'll never believe what happened. A young man driving a Porsche, hit another car in front of him. The young man's car flipped and because he wasn't wearing a seatbelt, he was thrown from the vehicle.
Peter: Oh my God. That's horrible.
Sally: Wait, it gets stranger. The man was found by police ... lying on the top of the highway sign.
Peter: No way!
Sally: The force of the accident combined with the speed he was driving tossed him up onto the sign.
Peter: Did he die?
Sally: No! He did not, thank goodness! He broke several bones though, but they say he'll be ok. Isn't that amazing?
Peter: It is not the craziest story I have ever heard, but it is pretty close. Also, it's good because now, people won't want to talk about my costume party story.
Sally: Hahah. I would not bet on that.

Let's Practice!

Peter reacts to Sally's story. It is not something you hear every day!

Instructions: Classify the expressions below into the right category.

1. I not should believe everything I hear.
2. They are not my favorite type of person.
3. It not is interesting at all!
4. I'm not kidding.
5. She did not tell me that.
6. It not is possible to do that.

Correct position of not

Incorrect position of not

Let's Practice!

Sally shares some of her experiences.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences and circle the incorrect words.

1. He haven't had any accident.
2. They have travel all around the world.
3. I has never tasted Thai food.
4. You has done the homework.
5. I have drive a truck.

Extension Activity

That is the strangest story I have ever heard!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- The teacher presents the final sentence of a strange event or happening.
- In pairs, students must write a short story leading up to the final sentence that explains what happened.
- Present the stories to a group or the class.
- Later, exchange stories with other groups and check each others for grammar errors.
- After, the papers are returned to the students and the grammar is corrected.

Target Words

- just kidding (expression): you use this expression when you don't really mean what you are saying e.g. It is not fit for people to eat. Just kidding!
- highway (noun): a main road, especially one between towns or cities
e.g. Well, you know highway 6, right?
- to flip (verb): to turn over e.g. The young man's car flipped.
- seatbelt (noun): an arrangement of straps designed to keep a vehicle's passenger firmly secure e.g. He wasn't wearing a seatbelt.
- vehicle (noun): a thing that is used for transporting people or goods from one place to another, such as a car or lorry/truck
e.g. He was thrown from the vehicle.
- force (noun): physical power or strength
e.g. The force of the accident.
- to toss (verb): to throw, especially lightly or carelessly e.g. The force of the accident combined with the speed he was driving tossed him up onto the sign.
- bet on that (expression): used to express sarcasm, or to show disagreement e.g. I would not bet on that.

Learning Points

The Passive Voice

You use the active voice when you want the 'doer' of the action to be the subject.
You use the passive voice when you want the 'receiver' of the action to be the subject.

Active sentence = The Porsche (subject) hit the car (object).

Passive sentence = The car (subject) was hit by a Porsche (object).

It is not always necessary to mention the object in a passive sentence.

You make the passive form of a verb by using tenses of the be verb followed by the past participle.

The Simple Present passive form is:

am/are/is + past participle

For example:

- The man was found on top of the freeway sign.

The Simple Past passive form is:

was/were + past participle

For example:

- The accident was filmed by someone's cell phone.

Examples:

- It was reported two days ago.
- You know that huge freeway sign that was built last year.
- He was thrown from the vehicle.
- The man was found by police.

Learning Points

Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experience.

When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

- Have you ever been in a car accident?

Yes, I have (been in a car accident).

- Have you ever seen a car accident?

No, I have never seen a car accident.

Examples:

- Have you ever driven on the 6 before?
- I've driven on the 6 more often than you have.
- Have you ever had the lobster here?
- It was not the craziest story I have ever heard.
