

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What is an urban legend?
- What urban legends are popular in your country?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about coincidences and strange events.
- I can write about past events.
- I can discuss experiences I have and haven't had.

Let's Explore!

The story he told about scoring four goals in the soccer game is so bogus.

* "Bogus" means something is not true.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

It has been one of the craziest weeks ever. I heard several amazing stories, but two stories stand out. The first one, involved that accident where the man was thrown from his car and where his broken body was found atop the freeway sign.

Stories have been written and movies have been made that don't even come close to being this bizarre. I have never heard of anything like that happening before and I probably never will hear about a story like that again. How did he get up there? There has to be an explanation. Right? Maybe.

Another story, about the remorseful robber. He robbed a bank, ran out with the money and came back five minutes later. He then waited for the police to come. Why did he go back to the bank? I don't know.

The point is, as a writer, I want to know. It is these amazing stories about insane coincidences, ridiculous experiences, and bizarre events that make life worth living. It is stories like these that feed my curiosity and make me want to learn more about everything. So tell me your peculiar stories from a friend of the friend or an acquaintance that may be true or may be completely bogus because I have traveled around the world and I have had many experiences, but one of the best things in life is still sharing stories with friends. I will never tire of them and I can't wait for the next ones.

Let's Practice!

Let's see if you can find them!

Instructions: Find the words in the word search below.

1. named
2. checked
3. heard
4. wiped out
5. worn out

Let's Practice!

Sally reviews some new vocabulary.

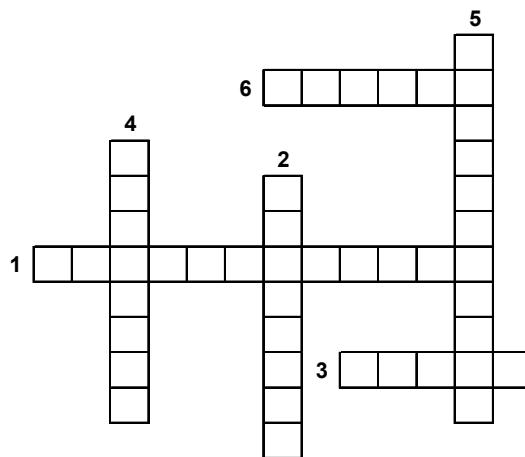

Instructions: Read the clues below in order to complete the crossword.

Down

2. Used for saying someone is very excited about something happening.
4. Strange, unusual.
5. Feeling sad or guilty for having done something wrong.

Across

1. Someone you know a little but is not a close friend.
3. Not real, fake.
6. Very irrational or crazy.

Extension Activity

Present an urban legend.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Research an urban legend.
- Make your presentation 3 to 5 minutes long.
- Ask classmates to decide after if the urban legend is true or if it is false and give explanations as to why.
- Brainstorm about the signs that tell us if an urban legend is true or not.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write about past events and an urban legend.

☐
☐

I discuss experiences people have had.

☐
☐

I make presentations about urban legends.

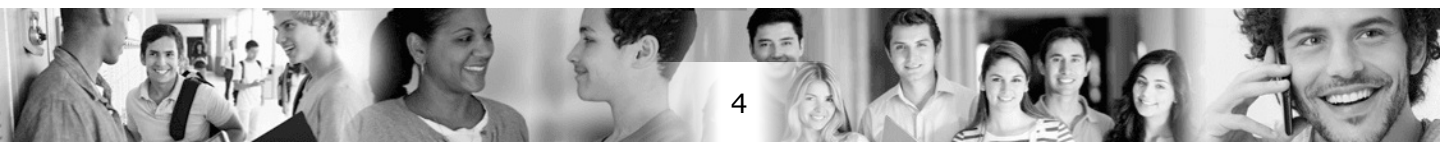

☐
☐

I use critical thinking.

☐
☐

Target Words

- remorseful (adjective): feeling sad or guilty for having done something wrong
e.g. Another story was about the remorseful robber.
- insane (adjective): very irrational or crazy
e.g. It is these amazing stories about insane coincidences and ridiculous experiences that I love.
- peculiar (adjective): strange, often in an unpleasant way e.g. So tell me your peculiar stories.
- friend of a friend (expression): someone that you know; an acquaintance e.g. So tell me your peculiar stories from a friend of the friend.
- acquaintance (noun): someone you know a little but is not a close friend e.g. So tell me your peculiar stories from a friend of the friend or an acquaintance.
- can't wait (expression): used for saying someone is very excited about something happening
e.g. I will never tire of them and I can't wait for the next ones.

Learning Points

The Passive Voice

You use the active voice when you want the 'doer' of the action to be the subject.
You use the passive voice when you want the 'receiver' of the action to be the subject.

Active sentence = The car (subject) hit the freeway sign (object).

Passive sentence = The freeway sign (subject) was hit by the car (object).

It is not always necessary to mention the object in a passive sentence.

You make the passive form of a verb by using tenses of the be verb followed by the past participle.

The Simple Present passive form is:

am/are/is + past participle

For example:

- You are told that story almost every day.

The Simple Past passive form is:

was/were + past participle

For example:

- People were missed by oncoming cars.

Examples:

- The man was thrown from his car.
- His broken body was found high atop the freeway sign.
- Stories have been written.
- Movies have been made.

Learning Points

Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experience.

When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

For example:

I have learned English. = I learned English in the past and now I can speak English.

He has bought a painting. = He bought the painting in the past and now he has a painting.

To emphasize the result of the action, use the simple form.

- Have you been out of the country yet?
- I've traveled to Europe a couple of times.

Examples:

- It has been one of the craziest weeks ever.
- I have never heard of anything like that happening before.
- I have traveled around the world.
- I have had many experiences.

