Let's Start!

Peter tells Sally a funny story!

Learning Outcome

Describe unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever been to a costume party?
- Have you ever had a misunderstanding with someone?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about cultural items and strange events.
- I can discuss experiences I have and haven't had.
- I can talk about past events.

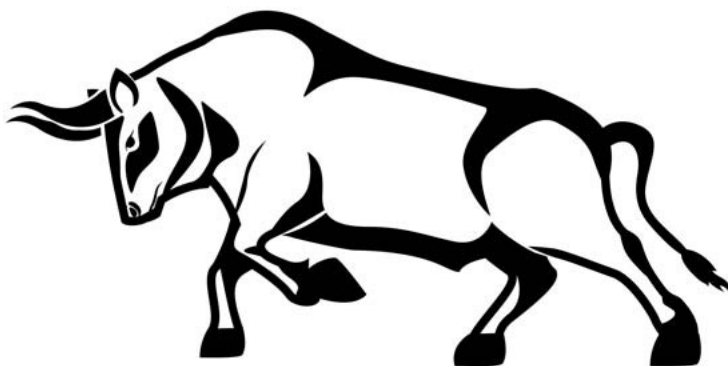

Let's Explore!

Michael is an acquaintance of mine from school.

* An "acquaintance" is someone you know only a little about.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: So, how was your Saturday? What did you do? Where did you go?
Peter: Well, my Saturday was eventful.
Sally: Why?
Peter: Have you ever been to a costume party before?
Sally: Ummm ... yes!
Peter: Well, not like this. An acquaintance at the comic book store invited me to a house party. His name is Mitch. Have you ever met Mitch?
Sally: No. So, what happened?
Peter: I went over to the house at 145 Center Street, and loud music was playing and there was a sign on the door that said, "Come In". So I did.
Sally: Strange. Have you ever seen anything like that?
Peter: No. I went inside and there were lots of people dressed in animal costumes with huge animal heads. They were making crazy animal sounds and jumping around. I asked a monkey if he knew Mitch? He pointed to a large cow. I went up to the cow and the cow started to head-butt me.
Sally: What?

Extension Activity

Tell me more information!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Students create 8 'have you ever' questions about life experiences.
- In groups, students take turns asking each other their questions.
- If a student answers yes to any of the 'have you ever' questions, follow up with 'Wh' questions looking for more details.
- After, students are to write 3 sentences about things they have done that they don't think anyone else in the class has done and something they have never done, but they think someone in the class has.
- Share your sentences with the class and check if your sentences are right.

Target Words

- eventful (adjective): full of important or intriguing events
e.g. My Saturday was eventful, it really amazed me!
- acquaintance (noun): somebody you know who is not a close friend
e.g. An acquaintance at the comic book store invited me to a house party.
- to head-butt (verb): to hit with horns, especially by animals
e.g. I went to the cow and it started to head-butt me.
- to twist (verb): to bend or turn something
e.g. I grabbed his horns and twisted and his head came off!
- to gasp (verb): to breathe in suddenly, especially in surprise or pain e.g. His head came off. Everyone gasped ...
- to ram (verb): to run into something or somebody very hard e.g. When he tried to ram me again, I grabbed his horns.

Learning Points

Simple Past

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about many kinds of past events: short, quickly finished actions, longer situations and repeated events.

Usually, when you use the Simple Past tense, the time of the finished action is clear from the context or explicitly mentioned in the sentence.

For example:

How was your Saturday?

Here, it is clear when the action of “recognizing” happened (on Saturday night) and that it finished in that time period.

Here is another example:

I went over to the house.

Remember that there are both regular and irregular verbs. Look at the chart for examples of Simple Past tense verbs.

Regular Verbs:

Present	Past
discover	discovered
recognize	recognized

Irregular Verbs:

Present	Past
go	went
know	knew

Examples:

- I checked the address on my phone again.
- It was another Mitch.
- I went over to the house.
- What did you do?
- Where did you go?

Learning Points

Present Perfect

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about a past action or an action that began in the past that is connected to the present in some way.

You can use the Present Perfect tense to talk about experience.

When you use the Present Perfect tense, you think about the past and present together. There is some connection between what happened in the past and now.

For example:

I have learned English. = I learned English in the past and now I can speak English.

He has bought a painting. = He bought the painting in the past and now he has a painting.

- Have you ever met Mitch?
- Have you been to a costume party?

Examples:

- Have you ever seen something like that?
- Have you ever been to a costume party?
- Has something like that ever happened to you?
- I have never been to a costume party.
- I have never seen anything like that before.
